ANNUAL INSTITUTE ON TEACHING AND MENTORING

The annual Institute on Teaching and Mentoring (Institute), the largest gathering of underrepresented minority Ph.D. scholars in the nation, is administered by the SREB-State Doctoral Scholars Program (DSP). Institutions and organizations that have no association with the DSP may support their students, faculty, administrators, staff, or postdocs to attend this four-day event on a space available basis. The costs of attendance are announced each year prior to the Institute. The average cost runs about $1,500/person (registration, meals-7, lodging-single, travel).
